

Did you know you can use UTS Insearch Academic English/ELICOS to meet the English language entry requirements at a range of Universities and Colleges?*

A number of Universities and Colleges recognise UTS Insearch Academic English (AE) for entry into their courses. This means you may not need IELTS to study at the destination of your choice. Universities and Colleges that recognise UTS Insearch AE include:

- University of Technology Sydney (UTS)
- Australian Catholic University
- Bond University
- Charles Sturt University
- Curtin University
- Curtin College Singapore
- Deakin College
- Edith Cowan College
- Eynesbury College
- Gannon University
- JMC Academy
- La Trobe Melbourne
- La Trobe Sydney Campus
- Macquarie University
- Newcastle International College
- The University of Newcastle
- Queensland University of Technology
- University of Canberra College
- University of Canterbury International College
- University of South Australia
- South Australian Institute of Business and Technology (SAIBT)
- Sydney Institute of Business and Technology (SIBT)
- Shanghai University (SHU)
- Swinburne University of Technology
- Western Sydney University
- Western Sydney International College
- Western Sydney City Campus

The level of AE you need to complete to meet the entry requirements for your preferred University or College will depend on the IELTS requirement for the course you want to study.

For courses requiring an:

- Overall IELTS of 5.5, students must complete AE3
- Overall IELTS of 6.0, students must complete AE4
- Overall IELTS of 6.5, students must complete AE5
- Overall IELTS of 7.0, students must complete AE6

*Applicants must also meet academic entry requirements and immigration visa requirements.

Disclaimer: Information is correct at the time of printing January 2018. Recognition arrangements are subject to change and applicants are advised to confirm that recognition is current at the time of application.

Vietnam

Nepal

China

China

Indonesia

South Korea

Myanmar